Including Ethical Considerations in Decision Making

- Steps in a decision-making process
 - Develop problem statement
 - Identify alternatives
 - Evaluate and choose alternative
 - Implement decision
 - Evaluate results
 - Success

Develop a Problem Statement

- Clear, concise description of the issue
- Answers these questions:
 - What causes people to think there is a problem?
 - Who is directly affected by the problem?
 - Is there anyone else affected?
 - How often does it occur?
 - What is the impact of the problem?
 - How serious is the problem?
- Most critical step in decision-making process

Develop a Problem Statement (cont'd.)

- Example of a good problem statement:
 - “Our product supply organization is continually running out of stock of finished products, creating an out-of-stock situation on over 15 percent of our customer orders, resulting in over $300,000 in lost sales per month.”
- Examples of poor problem statements:
 - “We need to implement a new inventory control system.” (possible solution, not a problem statement)
 - “We have a problem with finished product inventory.” (not specific enough)

Identify, Evaluate, and Choose an Alternative

- Enlist help to brainstorm alternative solutions
- Evaluate by weighing laws, guidelines, and principles
- Consider likely consequences of each alternative
- Alternative selected must:
 - Be ethically and legally defensible
 - Be consistent with policies and code of ethics
 - Take into account impact on others
 - Provide a good solution to problem
